ANGELICA

FINAL TEST: NEW COUNTRY PROJECT

Introduction to project:

- This project studies the made up country of Angelica that was created from real life Australia. The history is based on a gang infested prison that revolted against the government of the country despite being created by the United Nations. Angelica was created in effort to explore the alternate situation where unlikely social groups take control of a country. We established the present day facts and information based on this backstory, making sure it all complied to the main purpose of the project which is being able to create a functional country with the political and government knowledge of this year's class.

The country of Angelica:

It is a sovereign country and the largest country in the Oceania geographic region and the world's sixth-largest country by total area (2.97 million square miles).

Capital: Fallen City

Largest City: Doe

History:

After the creation of the United Nations in 1945, the UN created the X SMS EPW-L4 High Security Prison (1948), where only the most notorious hackers, terrorists, drug-lords, mafia leaders, and war criminals were sent to endure their life sentences. In 1956, John Doe was wrongfully incarcerated in the X SMS EPW-L4 High Security Prison. He was eventually pardoned 1958 by the UN, but had already grown resentful of the UN and of the Australian government. During his time at the prison he had become the power-hungry leader of the most dangerous prison gang which led him to orchestrate the “Conflei Revolution” of 1961 in order to take down the government and gain full control of the country.

He motivated the public by preaching of freedom and equality for all, these democratic ideals got him a large following. After his goal was achieved, he pardoned all the members of his gang and gave them high positions in the government. In addition, he changed the name of the country to Angelica, to honor his prison gang “The Fallen Angels”.

Flag:

The official flag of Angelica is known to represent freedom and accomplishment. It is a symbol of hope for many.

Color red: symbolizes strength

Blue X: associated with power

Two guns: represent pride

Dove: symbol of freedom

The globe grid at the center: as a tribute to the UN for bringing the country together (many conspiracy theories describe this as being a sign of resentment for the UN)

Map:

Refer to history to better understand the names

Climate:

Angelica has a wide variety of climates due to its large geographical size and location. Crossed by the Tropic of Capricorn, it has largely an arid climate, classified as desert or semi-desert, except in the extreme north, where it is tropical. On the southern coasts, it is more temperate. However, even non-desert areas are subject to sudden increases in temperature, caused by hot and dry winds coming from the desert. It is important to note that since it is in the Southern Hemisphere, it has reversed seasons in comparison with Europe or North America.

Fun fact: As a casualty of global warming, they now experience a fire tornado season from the months of December to February.

How laws are made:

A bill can be introduced in either chamber of Congress by a senator or representative who sponsors it. Once a bill is introduced, it is assigned to a committee whose members will research, discuss, and make changes to the bill. The bill is then put before that chamber to be voted on. If the bill passes one body of Congress, it goes to the other body to go through a similar process of research, discussion, changes, and voting. Once both bodies vote to accept a bill, they must work out any differences between the two versions. Then both chambers vote on the same exact bill and, if it passes, they present it to the president.

A golden scale of justice is shown against a light blue background. The scale is balanced, with the word 'ORDER' spelled out on the pans using wooden letter tiles. The tiles are arranged as follows: 'O' (1 point), 'R' (1 point), 'D' (2 points), 'E' (1 point), and 'R' (1 point). The scale is made of polished brass or gold, and the pans are suspended by chains. The background is a soft, out-of-focus light blue.

How laws are made:

The president then considers the bill. The president can approve the bill and sign it into law or not approve (veto) a bill. If the president chooses to veto a bill, in most cases Congress can vote to override that veto and the bill becomes a law. But, if the president pocket vetoes a bill after Congress has adjourned, the veto cannot be overridden.
